5 Lessons from the First Chief AI Officers

er.educause.edu/podcasts/educause-exchange/5-lessons-from-the-first-chief-ai-officers

EDUCAUSE Exchange | Season 5, Episode 1

Colleges and universities have begun formalizing the chief AI officer role as they respond to the growing impact of generative artificial intelligence on teaching, research, and operations. Reflections from early incumbents point to five lessons about how AI leadership in higher education is taking shape.

Watch on YouTube

Listen on Apple Podcasts

LISTEN ON Spotify

View Transcript

This episode features:

Mark Daley
Chief AI Officer
Western University

Amarda Shehu
Inaugural VP and Chief AI Officer
George Mason University